

ABSTRACT

The invention I call "The Spin-Tube game" is very unique in character. New to the art of indoor sports gaming. The projectile utilized is simple being an elongated cylindrical tube. Yet when in motion becomes animated and exciting and a great part of a game.

It is fresh unmarked territory in game play with a concept that stands out. Fantastic and new it is set apart in the minds of who watch or play.

However juxtaposed with other sports games, it remains in a class by itself. To use an optimally elongated cylindrical tube as a projectile to create a sphericity as part of the game play is fundamentally the invention. And with a game table that is markedly distinct in it's own right integrated into the invention in it's totality shines with the best of them.
